6. Where a reversion expectant on a lease of land is surrendered or merged, the estate or interest which as against the tenant for the time being confers the next vested right to the land, shall be deemed the reversion for the purpose of preserving the same incidents and obligations as would have affected the original reversion if there had been no surrender or merger thereof. (b) every tenant at will is liable to his landlord and every other person having a reversionary interest in the leased premises for voluntary waste in respect of the premises to the extent by which the interest of the landlord and other persons, if any, having a reversionary interest in the premises is detrimentally affected thereby.

(b) as against any other person who, subject to any lease properly granted under the power, would have been entitled to the land comprised in the lease, the lease, if it was made in good faith and the lessee has entered thereunder, shall take effect as a contract for the grant, at the request of the lessee, of a valid lease under the power, of like effect as the invalid lease, subject to such variations as may be necessary in order to comply with the terms of the powers, but a lessee under an invalid lease shall not, by virtue of any such implied contract, be entitled to obtain a variation of the lease if the other persons who would have been bound by the contract are willing and able to confirm the lease without variation.

Where invalid lease becomes valid

(2) Where a lease granted in the intended exercise of such power is invalid by reason of the grantor not having power to grant the lease at the date thereof but the grantor's interest in the land comprised therein continues after the time when he might, in the exercise of the power, have properly granted a lease in the like terms, the lease shall take effect as a valid lease in like manner as if it had been granted at that date.

Person in possession under invalid lease, bound to accept confirmation of

- (b) any right of re-entry or other right or remedy to which, but for those provisions or any enactment replaced thereby, the grantor or other person for the time being entitled to the reversion expectant on the termination of the lease, would or might have been entitled by reason of any breach of the covenants, conditions, or provisions contained in the lease, and binding on the lessee.

Deemed intended exercise of power of leasing

(7) Where a valid power of leasing is vested in or may be exercised by a person who grants a lease which, by reason of the determination of the interest of the grantor or otherwise, cannot have effect and continuance according to the terms thereof independently of the power, the lease shall for the purposes of this section be deemed to have been granted in the intended exercise of the power although the power is not referred to in the lease.

(8) This section takes effect without prejudice to the provision in this Act for the grant of leases in the name and on behalf of the estate owner of the land affected. R.S.P.E.I. 1974, Cap. L-7, s.8.

Application of section

9. In every lease in writing whenever made, unless it is otherwise agreed, and in every lease by parol, there shall be implied an agreement that if the rent reserved, or any part thereof, remains unpaid for fifteen days after any of the days on which it ought to have been paid, although no formal demand thereof has been made, the landlord may, at any time thereafter, into and upon the demised premises, or any part thereof in the name of the whole, re-enter, and have the premises again, repossess and enjoy as of his former estate; and the occupant thereof shall be deemed to be an overholding tenant within the meaning of Part III. R.S.P.E.I. 1974, Cap. L-7, s.9.

Right of re-entry for non-payment of rent

10. In every lease whenever made there shall be implied an agreement that if the tenant or any other person is convicted of keeping a common bawdy house, within the meaning of the Criminal Code (Canada) R.S.C. 1985, Chap. C-46, or is convicted of an offence against the provisions of the Liquor Control Act R.S.P.E.I. 1988, Cap. L-14 excepting section 38 thereof, on the demised premises, or any part thereof, the landlord may at any time thereafter, into the demised premises, or any part thereof, re-enter, and have the premises again, repossess and enjoy as of his former estate. R.S.P.E.I. 1974, Cap. L-7, s.10.

Conviction for keeping common bawdy house, re-entry by landlord

11. (1) Where a license is granted to a tenant to do any act, the license, unless otherwise expressed, extends only

- (a) to the permission actually given;
- (b) to the specific breach of any provision or covenant referred to; or
- (c) to any other matter thereby specifically authorized to be done, and the license does not prevent any proceeding for any subsequent breach unless otherwise specified in the license.

License to tenant, extent of

(2) Notwithstanding a license referred to in subsection (1)

- (a) all rights under covenants and powers of re-entry contained in the lease remain in full force and are available as against any subsequent breach of covenant, condition or other matter not specifically authorized or waived, in the same manner as if no license had been granted; and
- (b) the condition or right of entry remains in force in all respects as if the license had not been granted, except in respect of the particular matter authorized to be done.

Covenants etc. prevail

License to assign or sublet, right of re-entry

(3) Where in any lease there is a power or condition of re-entry on the tenant assigning, subletting or doing any other specified act without a license, and a license is granted

- (a) to any one of two or more tenants to do any act, or to deal with his equitable share or interest; or
- (b) to any tenant, or to any one of two or more tenants to assign or underlet part only of the property, or to do any act in respect of part only of the property, the license does not operate to extinguish the right of re-entry in case of any breach of covenant or condition by the co-lessees of the other shares or interests in the property, or by the tenant or tenants of the rest of the property, as the case may be, in respect of such shares or interests or remaining property, but the right of re-entry remains in force in respect of the shares, interests or property not the subject of the license.

Application of section

(4) This subsection does not authorize the grant after October 2, 1939 of a license to create an undivided share in a legal estate. R.S.P.E.I. 1974, Cap. L-7, s.11.

Covenant etc. against assigning, subletting conditional

12. (1) In every lease containing a covenant, condition, or agreement against assigning, subletting, or parting with the possession, or disposing of the land leased without license or consent, such covenant, condition, or agreement shall, unless the lease contains an express provision to the contrary, be deemed to be subject

- (a) to a proviso to the effect that the license or consent shall not be unreasonably withheld; and
- (b) to a proviso to the effect that no fine or sum of money in the nature of a fine is payable for or in respect of the license or consent, but this proviso does not preclude the right to require the payment of a reasonable sum in respect of any legal or other expense incurred in relation to the license or consent.

Judge may make order allowing assignment or subletting

(2) Where the landlord refuses or neglects to give a license or consent to assign or sublet, a judge of the Supreme Court, upon the application of the tenant, or assignee or subtenant, and after notice to the landlord, may make an order determining whether or not such license or consent is unreasonably withheld, and where it is so withheld, permitting the assignment or sublease to be made; and the order shall be the equivalent of the license or consent of the landlord within the meaning of any covenant or condition requiring the same, and such assignment or sublease is not a breach thereof.

Costs of application

(3) The costs of an application under subsection (2) shall be in the discretion of the judge and shall conform, as nearly as may be, to costs in the Supreme Court. R.S.P.E.I. 1974, Cap. L-7, s.12; 1975, c.27, s.5.

13. Every tenant to whom there is delivered any process of any court for the recovery of premises demised to or held by him or to whose knowledge any such process comes, shall forthwith give notice thereof to his landlord or his agent, and if he fails so to do, he is answerable for all damages sustained by the landlord by reason of the failure to give the notice. Retention of leased premises for unexpired term by assignee or liquidator

74. (1) Notwithstanding the legal effect of any provision or stipulation in the lease, in the case of an assignment for the general benefit of creditors or of winding up under the Winding-up Act, the assignee or liquidator may at any time while he is in occupation of leased premises for the purposes of liquidation of the estate and before he has given notice of intention to surrender possession or disclaimed the lease, elect to retain the leased premises for the unexpired term, upon giving notice thereof in writing to the landlord.

Assignment of lease

(2) The assignee or liquidator may, upon payment to the landlord of all overdue rent, assign the lease to any person who will covenant to observe and perform its terms and agree to occupy the demised premises for a trade, occupation or purpose which is not reasonably of a more objectionable or more hazardous nature than that for which the premises were occupied by the lessee, and who are, on application by the assignee or liquidator, approved by a judge as a person fit and proper to be put in possession of the leased premises.

Liability of assignee or liquidator re-assignment of lease

(3) Upon the making of the assignment referred to in subsection (2) the liability of the assignee making the assignment or of the liquidator and also all liability of the estate of the lessee is, subject to this section and to sections 73 and 75, limited and confined to the payment of rent for the period of time during which the assignee or liquidator occupies the leased premises for the purpose of liquidation of the estate.

(4) The assignee or liquidator has the further right at any time before electing to retain the premises, to surrender possession or disclaim the lease upon giving notice thereof in writing to the landlord, and his entry into possession of the leased premises and their occupation by him while required for the purposes of liquidation of the estate shall not be deemed to be evidence of an intention on his part to elect to retain possession pursuant to this section.

Surrender of possessions, disclaimer of lease

(5) If the assignee or liquidator does not, within the time in which he may remain in occupation of the premises for purposes of liquidation, give the landlord notice in writing of his intention either to retain the premises or to surrender possession or disclaim the lease, he shall be deemed to have disclaimed the lease.

Deemed disclaimer of lease

(6) After the assignee or liquidator surrenders possession, such of the landlord's rights as are based upon actual occupation by the assignee or liquidator cease. R.S.P.E.I. 1974, Cap. L-7, s.74.

Landlord's rights after surrender, etc.

75. (1) Where the lessee before making an assignment for the general benefit of creditors or before a resolution or order for winding up has been made against him, has demised by way of under-lease, approved or consented to in writing by the landlord, any premises, and the assignee or liquidator surrenders, disclaims or elects to assign the lease, the underlessee, if he so elects in writing within two months of the date of the assignment or of the resolution or order for winding up, stands in the same position with the landlord, as though he were a direct lessee from the landlord but subject, except as to rental payable, to the same liabilities and obligations as the lessee was subject to under the lease at the date of the assignment or of the resolution or order for winding up.

Underlessee, rights and liabilities

(2) The underlessee shall, in the event, be required to covenant to pay to the landlord a rental not less than that payable by the underlessee to the lessee, and if the last mentioned rental is greater than that payable by the lessee to the landlord, the underlessee is required to covenant to pay to the landlord the like greater rental. R.S.P.E.I. 1974, Cap. L-7, s.75.

76. In case a tenant or other person who is in possession of any land by, from or under, or by collusion with the tenant, wilfully holds over the land or any part thereof after the determination of the term, if notice in writing requiring delivery of the possession thereof is given by his landlord or the person to whom the remainder or reversion of the land belongs or his agent thereunto lawfully authorized, the tenant or other person so holding over shall, for and during the time he so holds over or keeps the person entitled out of possession, pay to that person or his assigns at the rate of double the yearly value of the land so detained for so long as the same is detained, to be recovered by action in any court of competent jurisdiction. R.S.P.E.I. 1974, Cap. L-7, s.76.

Overholding tenants, liability of

Notice to quit but overholds, liability of tenant

77. Where a tenant gives notice of his intention to quit the premises held by him at a time mentioned in the notice, and does not accordingly deliver up the possession thereof at the time mentioned in the notice, the tenant shall from thenceforward pay to the landlord double the rent or sum which he should otherwise have paid, to be levied, sued for, and recovered at the same time and in the same manner as the single rent or sum before the giving of the notice could be levied, sued for, or recovered, and the double rent or sum shall continue to be paid while the tenant continues in possession. R.S.P.E.I. 1974, Cap. L-7, s.77.

Summary ejectment, application for

78. (1) When any overholding tenant, on due notice to quit having been given, refuses to deliver up possession to the lessor, or person entitled thereunto, the lessor or person, (hereinafter referred to as the plaintiff), his attorney or agent, may apply to the judge of the Supreme Court or a judge appointed under the Provincial Court Act having jurisdiction in the county within which the tenements or premises are situated, or to the judge appointed under the Provincial Court Act having jurisdiction in the City of Charlottetown or in the Town of Summerside if the tenements or premises are situated within the city of town.

Tenant summoned before judge

(2) An oath having been made before a judge that the tenant has held and occupied the tenements or premises for a certain period then last past, as tenant to the person, under a demise which had then expired or been determined, or as tenant at will or suffrance, and that due notice to quit has been given, the judge shall thereupon summon the tenant.

Summons, contents and effect

(3) The judge shall give at least eight days notice to quit; the notice shall be served in the manner prescribed for the service of an originating notice issued out of the Supreme Court, to show cause at a place and time in the summons specified before the judge, why the tenant holds over tenements or premises.

Tenant fails to show cause for overholding

(4) In the case the tenant neglects or refuses to attend the summons, or attending does not show sufficient cause to the satisfaction of the judge for so holding over, the judge shall adjudge the plaintiff to be put in possession of the premises and thereupon the judge shall issue his warrant of possession and execution, directed to the sheriff of the county within which the tenements or premises are situated, requiring him forthwith to put the plaintiff in possession, and to levy the costs of the proceedings.

(5) The sheriff shall execute the warrant agreeably to the direction therein contained, but where the tenant gives to the judge security for the payment of the costs within thirty days from the time of judgment, then no execution shall issue against the goods and chattels of that person during the period of thirty days. R.S.P.E.I. 1974, Cap. L-7, s.78; 1975, c.27, s.5.

Supreme Court

(a) may, having regard to the convenience of the parties, the costs of the proceedings and other considerations; and

(b) shall, on the request of the tenant, to which the tenant is entitled as of right, direct that the case be referred to a judge of the Supreme Court to be heard and disposed of.

(2) Upon the case being referred to the Supreme Court the subsequent proceedings shall be the same in the Supreme Court, with the necessary changes, as if they had been continued before the judge appointed under the Provincial Court Act, but if it appears to the judge of the Supreme Court that, in the circumstances of the case, the right to possession should not be determined in a summary manner, he may direct an issue or make such order therein as may seem just, with or without costs, and in such case the taking of any proceeding under this Part does not affect or detract from any other remedy which a landlord may have against his tenant. R.S.P.E.I. 1974, Cap. L-7, s.79; 1975, c.27, s.5.

Proceedings in the
Supreme Court

80. When on appeal from the judge appointed under the Provincial Court Act, the proceedings are quashed by the Supreme Court, the Supreme Court may make an order for the restitution of the lands, tenements and premises, and for payment of any damages which the tenant may have sustained by reason of the proceedings. R.S.P.E.I. 1974, Cap. L-7, s.80; 1975, c.27, s.5.

Order for restitution
of land

81. In all proceedings held under this Part, the party prevailing may recover his costs, and have process therefor, that is to say, for proceedings had before such provincial court judges, the like costs to be by them taxed and allowed as are recoverable for similar proceedings under Part XXVII of the Criminal Code, except the sheriff's fees on the execution of a writ of possession, which shall be the same as for executing a writ of possession issuing out of the Supreme Court, and, for proceedings in the Supreme Court, costs according to the scale in such court to be assessed in the usual manner.
