4) PEI Municipal Elections: Opportunities to serve, deadline October 10; Elections on November 3

The Federation of PEI Municipalities (FPEIM) has long been a supporter of, and participant in, the Premier's Action Committee on Family Violence Prevention. Municipalities are the order of government closest to our communities. With such intimate connections, municipalities can respond quickly and have the capability to make a real contribution in the effort to prevent Family Violence.

PEI Municipal Elections are scheduled for November 3, 2014. New councils will be elected to four year terms. FPEIM urges everyone to participate in this important democratic process. It takes community participation and leadership to build the strong communities that can effect the changes required to prevent Family Violence.

The opportunity is there for those who would like to be involved at the elected level. Get engaged in your community by putting your name on the ballot. The nomination deadline for most municipalities is October 20, 2014 (October 10, 2014 for Charlottetown, Summerside, Stratford and Cornwall). You could be the leader that effects change.

At a very minimum, get out and vote! Engage your local candidates in discussions about the role of your municipality in preventing Family Violence. Make sure the issue is on the agenda.

Let's work together to build communities where Family Violence is no more; communities where help is available in time of family stress; communities that we want to live in; communities that are safe for all! The solution can start with you.

Municipal elections are on November 3. Information is available on the Municipal Elections PEI 2014 website: <http://www.municipalelectionspei.ca/>
