The Seniors' Housing Program

Many seniors find that their housing needs change over time. Some find their income is less than in earlier years, making housing hard to afford. Others may find it more difficult to maintain their own home.

In recognition of these needs, the federal and provincial governments provide funding for building and maintaining Seniors' Housing projects.

Where Are Senior Citizens' Housing Projects Located?

There are 1,152 Senior Citizens' Housing units located in 35 Island communities across the province:

Who Is Eligible?

Any person over the age of sixty can apply for Seniors Housing.

How Are Tenants Selected?

Tenants are selected based on need. A rating system is used to find out which applicants have the greatest need. When assessing need, staff consider a person's income, assets, health, age, present housing and the length of time the application has been on file.

What Facilities Do the Housing Units Offer?

Most housing units are one-bedroom apartments with a living room, kitchen, bathroom and storage area. A few buildings have bachelor-style apartments. These are similar to one bedroom apartments but they do not have a separate bedroom.

Some buildings have units designed for tenants with a disability.

Privacy Statement:

Personal information on this form is collected under Section 31 of the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act R.S.P.E.I. 1988, c.F-15.01, as it relates directly to and is necessary for the provision of the Seniors Housing Program. If you have any questions about this collection of personal information, you may contact the Department of Community Services, Seniors And Labour FOIPP Coordinator at (902) 894-0304.

The Department of Community Services, Seniors and Labour provides a refrigerator and stove, covers the cost of heat and hot water and ensures ongoing upkeep of the unit.

Each tenant is responsible for furniture and drapes, as well as the cost of electricity, telephone, cable TV and tenant insurance. New tenants must make arrangements with the electric utility to have the power to the unit turned on.

What Rent Is Charged?

Rent charged on a unit varies based on the income of the tenant. Rent is currently set at 25 per cent of income.
